

Increasing the ownership limits on broadcasting facilities would significantly decrease the variety of content and programming to the general public. When large groups take over all local stations, they tend to automate things, using sat distribution, which removes the local content totally. This is a bad thing. I'm in favor of reducing the current limits on station ownership.